Plaintiff(s) NANCY POLLARD	:	SUPERIOR COURT OF NEW JERSEY
	:	LAW DIVISION
	:	CUMBERLAND COUNTY
vs.	:
	:	DOCKET NO.: CUM-L- 90-15
Defendant(s) CUMBERLAND COUNTY COLLEGE and THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF CUMBERLAND COUNTY COLLEGE	:	Civil Action

Plaintiff, Nancy Pollard, residing in the City of Vineland, County of Cumberland and State of New Jersey by way of Complaint against the defendant says:

FIRST COUNT

1. At all times hereinafter mentioned, the plaintiff, Nancy Pollard, was an employee of the defendant, Cumberland County College, (referred to as "CCC") and a member of a protective class/category of individuals defined by the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act (CEPA-Whistleblower) and N.J.S.A. 34:19-2(b) and the New Jersey Law against Discrimination ("NJLAD") N.J.S.A. 10:5-1, et. seq.

2. At all times hereinafter mentioned, the defendant, Cumberland County College and the Board of Trustees, is an employer as defined/described by the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act N.J.S.A. 34:19-2(a) ("CEPA") and the NJLAD and the employer of the plaintiff, Nancy Pollard.

3. Throughout the course of plaintiff's employment with the defendant the plaintiff performed her job duties as the Director of Continuing Education in an exemplary fashion and received multiple accolades from the student body of the defendant, CCC.

4. While the plaintiff was employed at the defendant, CCC, the plaintiff became aware of a variety of acts/omissions which she reasonably believed/perceived were in violation of a law, rule or regulation and/or a clear mandate of public policy and/or participated in an investigatory process regarding various claims regarding activity protected by CEPA and reported and/or complained regarding the matters to members of upper management and supervisory personnel.

5. The plaintiff's complaints included complaints regarding the acts/omissions of her supervisor, from whom the plaintiff received direction and instructions as to her work activities and a supervisor as defined/described by the New Jersey Law against Discrimination and/or the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Act.

6. The plaintiff's complaints/objections regarding the unlawful conduct of her supervisor and/or the authorized representatives of the defendant and/or its members of upper management included, but were not limited to:

a. That her supervisor changed the rubric and/or requirements that were utilized by the Certified Medical Assistant (CMA) program so that all the students were to pass the class notwithstanding that they did not achieve objective goals to do so; and

b. The failure of the CMA program supervisor to extend externships or national exams to all students as represented, required and appropriate; and

c. Derogatory references regarding a student's spouse including comments such as "that man must be on drugs, he is desperate. He keeps calling everyday for their refund."; and

d. Preparation by the plaintiff's supervisor of a graduation ceremony program for students which placed the student's names in order of their GPA ranking and announcement of the criteria several times at the graduation causing embarrassment and turmoil against clear mandates of public policy; and

e. Plaintiff's supervisor's deviation from the program and previous representations made to and relied upon by students regarding a health program which included removing the "Gold Standard" or otherwise offering students a different exam rather than the required national exam which would allow students to work in a hospital setting without first obtaining at least one year of experience; and

f. Supervisory personnel communicating with the plaintiff by email and requesting work while the plaintiff was absent on an approved medical leave; and

g. Refusal of the plaintiff's supervisor to sign and approve time sheets for hours taught by the plaintiff depriving her of compensation in addition to a salary received by virtue of the plaintiff's director position; and

h. The indiscriminate and disparate awarding by plaintiff's supervisor of "comp time" to certain employees but not to others; and

i. The inappropriate discussion of the plaintiff's health and physical condition/disability or perception thereof at staff meetings breaching the plaintiff's confidentiality; and

j. Inappropriately disciplining the plaintiff for failing to supply information to area schools regarding summer camp while the plaintiff was out on an approved medical leave; and

k. Encouraging a former student-worker in the Workforce Community Education Department who interviewed with an outside company to perpetuate a lie and falsehood regarding the status of her drivers' license and doing so during a staff meeting for subordinates to hear.

7. The plaintiff's complaints/objections regarding the unlawful acts of her supervisor were made both orally and in writing to members of upper management and those in a position to remediate and/or to those in a position who knew or reasonably should have known of the conduct of the plaintiff's supervisor.

8. Notwithstanding plaintiff's multiple oral complaints and follow-up written complaints made in December, 2013 and in January, 2014, no investigation was conducted and no remedial efforts were put in place to correct the conduct of the plaintiff's supervisor and abate the hostile work environment caused by such conduct.

9. The defendant, CCC's, Department of Human Resources acknowledged receipt of the plaintiff's written complaints regarding the conduct of the plaintiff's supervisor as well as its "delay" in responding thereto. No investigation took place despite representation from the Human Resource Department that it would contact the plaintiff if there were questions or if it "required" additional information.

10. The plaintiff complained and objected concerning the defendant's Human Resource Department and its' personnel concerning its' failure to conduct an adequate investigation and to handle what the plaintiff believed was a violation of the law, defendant's policy, procedures or clear mandates of public policy. Following plaintiff's complaints she was told, specifically, "there was no audience for the situation" and that the "executive leadership did not want to hear about the problems". Plaintiff was purposely dissuaded, contrary to the law, of pursuing her complaints and specifically complained that said conduct constituted a violation of the law and contrary to her obligation as a director employed by the defendant, CCC. In fact, the plaintiff was intimidated and specifically warned by the Human Resource Department that she should not make complaints and was told to remember what had happened to other employees who made complaints which employees were discharged.

11. On or about February 14, 2014, following the plaintiff's most recent oral and written complaints to members of upper management regarding the aforesaid unlawful activities, she was terminated in violation of the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act.

12. As a direct and proximate result of the conduct of the defendant, CCC, by and through its' authorized representatives and supervisory personnel and in violation of N.J.S.A. 39:19-1, et. seq., the plaintiff sustained emotional distress, economic loss and other damages.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff, Nancy Pollard demands judgment against the defendant, CCC, sufficient to compensate her for her losses, together with punitive damages, costs of suit, attorneys' fees, and such other relief that is equitable, just, and available/awardable under the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act including but limited to reinstatement.

SECOND COUNT

1. Plaintiff repeats each and every allegation contained in the First Count and incorporates herein by reference thereto.

2. During the course of plaintiff's employment with the defendant, CCC, the plaintiff was wrongfully accused and inappropriately "investigated" regarding a note(s) allegedly received by her supervisor which writings supposedly cast plaintiff's supervisor in an unfavorable light.

3. The plaintiff's supervisor in retaliation for plaintiff's complaints/objections, more particularly described in the First Count, accused the plaintiff of writing the alleged unfavorable note and thereafter embarked on a course of action to discipline the plaintiff by interfering in the investigation and participating in the discipline process including plaintiff's termination in violation of CEPA.

4. The plaintiff denied and continues to deny engaging in any conduct whatsoever related to the alleged note(s) and maintained, at all times, the allegations against her were without merit and motivated by the retaliatory conduct of her supervisor.

5. The plaintiff's termination from her position as Director of Continuing Education was not only without merit, but also disparate treatment markedly different than discipline for conduct of other persons employed by the defendant, CCC, who engaged in conduct far more severe/worse than the non-meritorious and disputed conduct allegedly engaged in by the plaintiff. The accusations were pre-text for plaintiff's termination.

6. Management's disparate treatment of the plaintiff and her termination was consistent with the threats of intimidation previously made by management and Human Resources and the representations that there was "no audience" for her previous complaints and the "executive leadership" did not want to hear complaints such as those made by the plaintiff.

7. The conduct of the defendant, CCC, in firing the plaintiff and their pre-textual reason for the termination was retaliatory in nature for plaintiff's complaints and in violation of plaintiff's rights under CEPA.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff, Nancy Pollard demands judgment against the defendant, CCC, sufficient to compensate her for her losses, together with punitive damages, costs of suit, attorneys' fees, and such other relief that is equitable, just, and available/awardable under the New Jersey Conscientious Employee Protection Act including but limited to reinstatement.
